University Has Memorial For Spanish War Deaths

Twenty years ago the students of the University of Missouri, moved toward expressions of appreciation similar to those of the student body at the present time in the Missouri Memorial Building Campaign, were raising funds for a fitting memorial to the student volunteers who gave their lives for their country in the Spanish-American War. The funds to be raised at that time, however, was $50 for a marble tablet, instead of $250,000, the present amount to be raised for the Missouri Memorial Building. The memorial tablet erected in 1901 in memory of these students was inscribed by the Q. E. B. H. senior society of the University. Each senior student gave ten cents after which his name was entered in the roll of honor.

There are doubtless many students in the University, who have walked through Academic Hall and have not noticed the gilded marble tablet on the west wall of the main corridor close to the north entrance of the building. It is not very large. In fact, it is only about three by four and one-half feet in size, but the significance of its erection to alumni of 1901 was no doubt as great as the erection of the Missouri Memorial Building will be to future graduates of the University of Missouri. The inscription etched

HAS HOME-GROWN TOBACCO

Howard County Man Who Sells in Columbia Annually Is Here.

D. D. Moberly, an old settler from Glasgow, Howard County, arrived Saturday with an automobile load of home-grown tobacco which he sells from street corners. Mr. Moberly has made an annual trip to Columbia for many years, and his visits are looked forward to by many of the old settlers of this vicinity who find home-grown tobacco hard to get.

The Thrilling Episode of Graduation

Betty admitted she knew people sent commencement presents, but she was totally unprepared for the shower of lovely gifts.

"Wasn't it perfectly dear of Aunt Bess to buy a parasol and who told Uncle Bill I admired that blue bag?" She loves the whole round world and everybody in it a bit more because all the folks sent her things she'd been wishing for. Sending the sweet girl graduate a present is a privilege and this is just the time when you appreciate a store which offers unlimited ideas in gift-giving merchandise. Practical gifts galore and odd things too.

We find Miss Graduate would enjoy woman's true fondness for fine underwear. Imagine her feelings toward the person who gives her her very first crepe de chine nightgown! If there's one thing a girl would rather have than a pair of silk stockings, it's two pairs. Chiffon silk hose makes many a girl's heart skip a beat.

A certain little miss who hopes to get her diploma this month, made out a list of the things she would like:

Gray Chiffon Hose	Perfume or Toilet
Pink Silk Nightgown	Water
Silk Jersey Bloomers	Glove Silk Vest
Patent Leather Box	Long Kid Gloves (Silk will do)
Purse	Glove Silk Chemise
Camisole with Roses	Hand Embroidered
Umbrella with Ring Handle	Linen Handkerchiefs
Silver Bead Necklace	Silk Dress Patterns
Colored Handkerchiefs	Hand Bags
Ivory Mirror and Things	Beautiful Jeweled combs or hair ornaments.
